With the city taking over operation of Cascade Park at the urge of civic clubs, and various other organizations of the city, as well as many citizens, it will be up to these organizations to continue their work if they want the project to succeed. Certain it is that there will have to be more patronage for Cascade Park this summer, than during several years past, if the city operation of Cascade Park is to be the success it should be. The city can clean up and improve the park from a beauty standpoint, but it will take public patronage to mark this municipal venture a success.

If ever a business needed a dictator it is them. It would be the biggest job ever held by a single man outside the president. Robber Flees When Discovered In Home

Boys in the home of Edward Kelley, 936 Maryland avenue were suddenly awakened from their sleep shortly before four o'clock this morning, when an unknown man, evidently bent on robbery, flashed the light of a flashlight in their faces.
When they awakened, the robber evidently thought it was a good time for him to leave and he made a hurried exit downstairs and out the rear door. The boys were unable to get a good look at the man. The police were called and found that entrance had been effected by unlocking the front door by means of a key. After entering the robber had evidently unlocked the rear door to insure his exit.
When the occupants of the boys' room awakened as he flashed his light on them, he had to leave in such a hurry that he was unable to get nothing of value.

Text Of President Roosevelt's Message To Rulers Of World

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, May 16.—Following is the text of President Roosevelt's message to the rulers of the world:
"A profound hope of the people of my country impels me, as the head of their government, to address you and, through you, the people of your Nation. This hope is that peace may be assured through practical measures of disarmament and that all of us may carry to victory our common struggle against economic chaos.
"To these ends the nation has called two great world conferences. The happiness, the prosperity and the very lives of the men, women and children who inhabit the whole world are bound up in the decisions which their governments will make in the near future. The improvement of social conditions, the preservation of individual human rights, and the furtherance of social justice are dependent upon these decisions.
"Must Act Quickly
"The world economic conference will meet soon and must come to its conclusions quickly. The world can not wait deliberations long drawn out. The conference must establish order in place of the present chaos by a stabilization of currencies, by freeing the flow of world trade, and by international action to raise price levels. It must, in short supplement individual domestic programs for economic recovery, by wise and considered international action.
"The disarmament conference has labored for more than a year and, as yet, has been unable to reach satisfactory conclusions. Confused purposes still clash dangerously. Our duty lies in the direction of bringing practical results through concerted action based upon the greatest good to the greatest number. Before the imperative call of this great duty, petty obstacles must be swept away and petty aims forgotten. A selfish victory is always destined to (Continued On Page Two)

ROOSEVELT SENDS RULERS OF WORLD APPEAL FOR PEACE

Message Goes To Heads Of 50 Nations In Effort To Bring Peace

REMARKABLE MOVE MADE BY PRESIDENT

Seeks Pledge Of All Nations Against Any Acts Of Aggression Now

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 16.—President Roosevelt today sent to the rulers of the world a moving appeal for military and economic peace.

At a moment when sabres are rattling in Europe, when there is declared war in South America, and guns are belching in Asia, the president addressed the heads of fifty-odd nations with an eloquent plea to keep the peace.

To this end, he proposed a program:

(1) That all nations support the MacDonal disarmament plan, which is designed to eliminate offensive weapons of warfare.

(2) That early agreement be reached upon the steps to follow this plan.

(3) That while these steps are being taken no nation shall increase its armament beyond the limits fixed in existing treaties.

(4) That all the nations of the world enter into "a solemn and definite pact of non-aggression."

If any strong nation refuses to join "with genuine sincerity" in these aims, he said, progress toward world peace will be blocked "and the civilized world will know where the responsibility for failure lies."

No more remarkable document ever went out of Washington than the appeal of the president for universal peace. It was sent by cable this morning to the rulers of fifty-five nations, all of which are represented (Continued On Page Two)

GLASS PUSHES BANKING REFORM BILL

Measure Reaches Floor Of Senate

Administration Measure Would Make Important Changes In Banking Procedure

FEDERAL GUARANTEE ISSUE IS INCLUDED

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The administration's campaign to bulwark the banking structure of the Nation by a federal guarantee of deposits in member banks of the Federal Reserve system, reached the floor of the Senate today with Senator Glass (D) of Virginia, seeking prompt enactment of his banking reform bill.

The Glass bill, besides setting up a federal insurance fund to protect depositors in federal service member banks, would limit broker loans, divorce commercial from investment banking, and permit branch banking by federal banks in states allowing this privilege to their own banks. It would establish a stricter supervision of federal banks and erect safeguards against the use of bank funds for speculative purposes.

Provisions of Bill
Some of the provisions would:

1. Authorize the federal reserve board to fix a limit in each district on the total loans, secured by stock or bond collateral, in order to prevent "undue use of bank funds for the speculative carrying of securities."
2. Create a federal open market committee to regulate the open market purchases of securities by federal reserve banks.
3. Limit the extent to which member bank may purchase stock in or issue loans to affiliates.
4. Divorce commercial from investment banking by prohibiting public or private bankers from engaging in the flotation or sale of securities.
5. Prohibit investment banks from accepting deposits.

The last two provisions would compel such private banking firms as J. P. Morgan and Co. to discontinue either their investment or private banking operations. The Morgan firm, noted for its handling of huge security issues, would have to discontinue that practice or terminate its activities as private bankers.

People who put in new lawns this spring are reaping the benefit of the wet weather. Grass has been growing luxuriantly, it is noted.

The other night there was considerable excitement in the Hillcrest avenue district, when the neighbors about 9:15 o'clock discerned a strong electric light going back and forth on the Harper lawn. Some thought it was some motorist, who had made a mistake and driven in there. A little closer inspection showed it to be just another of the modern ideas conceived by the inventive genius of Officer Harper. The light was attached to the front of his lawnmower and he was mowing his lawn after dark by its light. He had the light attached to an electric cord extension, similar to that used on a sweeper and was making a good job of "Making Hay By The Light of An Electric Light."

sented in the disarmament conference at Geneva, now in the doldrums and verging upon dissolution, and in the London economic conference to convene in less than a month.

Even Soviet Russia was not excluded. The president's message was addressed to Michail Kalinin, "President of the All Union Central Executive Committee, Moscow, Russia." Russia is a participant in both the disarmament and the economic conference. It was explained, however, that President Roosevelt's direct communication with the head of the Russian state does not imply recognition.

The King of Iraq, the Shah of Persia, and the Emperor of Ethiopia, as well as the presidents of South and Central America and the heads of the powerful nations of Europe and Asia, all came within the scope of Mr. Roosevelt's appeal.

World-Wide Appeal
It was a world-wide appeal. Nevertheless, it was directed peculiarly to Germany and France, who are edging toward war in Europe; to Japan and China, now at each other's throats in the Far East; to Paraguay and Bolivia, who have an official and declared war in progress in South America.

Explanatory of his unique appeal, the president said at the outset: "A profound hope of the people of my country impels me, as the head of their government, to address you and, through you, the people of your nation. This hope is that peace may be assured through practical measures of disarmament and that all of us may carry to victory our common struggle against economic chaos."

To this end, he continued, the world has called two conferences, the disarmament conference at Geneva, and the economic conference at London. The Geneva conference, he said, has been unable to get anywhere as "confused purposes still clash dangerously."

Purposes of Armament
The purposes of armament, he declared, are two-fold: One, "the desire, disclosed or hidden, on the part of governments to enlarge their territories at the expense of a sister nation," and, Two, the fear of invasion.

Only a small minority of the governments of the world, he said, are actuated by territorial ambitions. The president did not, of course, specify any governments belonging to this "small minority," but it was plain that this portion of his communication had a peculiar application to Japan.

be an ultimate defeat. The furtherance of durable peace for our generation in every part of the world is the only goal worthy of our best efforts.

Armament Burden
"If we ask what are the reasons for armaments, which, in spite of the lessons and tragedies of the World War, are today a greater burden on the peoples of the earth than ever before, it becomes clear that they are two-fold: first, the desire, disclosed or hidden, on the part of governments to enlarge their territories at the expense of a sister nation. I believe that only a small minority of governments or of peoples harbor such a purpose. Second, the fear of nations that they will be invaded. I believe that the overwhelming majority of peoples feel obliged to retain excessive armaments because they fear some act of aggression against them and not because they themselves seek to be aggressors."

"There is justification for this fear. Modern weapons of offense are vastly stronger than modern weapons of defense. Frontier forts, trenches, wire entanglements, coast defenses—in a word, fixed fortifications are no longer impregnable to the attack of war planes, heavy mobile artillery, land battleships called tanks, and poison gas.

Eliminate Attack Weapons
"If all nations will agree wholly to eliminate from possession and use the weapons which make possible a successful attack, defenses automatically will become impregnable and the frontiers and independence of every nation will become secure."

The ultimate objective of the disarmament conference must be the complete elimination of all offensive weapons. The immediate objective is a substantial reduction of some of these weapons and the elimination of many others.

"This government believes that the program for immediate reduction of aggressive weapons, now under discussion at Geneva, is but a first step toward our ultimate goal. We do not believe that the proposed immediate steps go far enough. Nevertheless, this government welcomes the measures now proposed and will exert its influence toward the attainment of further successive steps of disarmament."

"Stated in the clearest way, there are three steps to be agreed upon in the present disarmament conference:

Three Steps
"First, to take at once, the first definite step toward this objective, as broadly outlined in the MacDonal plan.

"Second, to agree upon the time and procedure for taking the following steps.

"Third, to agree that while the first and following steps are being taken, no nation shall increase its existing armaments over and above the limitations of treaty obligations."

"But the peace of the world must be assured during the whole period of disarmament and I therefore, propose a fourth step concurrent with and wholly dependent on the faithful fulfillment of these three proposals and subject to existing treaty rights."

Proposes New Step
"That all the nations of the world should enter into a solemn and definite pact of non-aggression: That they should solemnly reaffirm the obligations they have assumed to limit and reduce their armaments, and provided these obligations are faithfully executed by all signatory powers, individually agree that they will send no armed force of whatsoever nature across their frontiers."

"Common sense points out that if any strong nation refuses to join with genuine sincerity in these concerted efforts for political and economic peace, the one at Geneva and the other at London, progress can be obstructed and ultimately blocked."

In such even the civilized world seeking both forms of peace, will know where the responsibility for failure lies. I urge that no nation assume such a responsibility, and that all the nations joined in these great conferences translate their professed policies into action. This is the way to political and economic peace."

"I trust that your government will join in the fulfillment of these hopes. Signed, FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

NATIONAL GUARDS ARE CALLED INTO BIG MILK STRIKE

The guardsmen will wear civilian clothes.

Milwaukee Feels Pinch
Milwaukee particularly felt the pinch of a depleted supply of milk as the tightening lines of farmers pickets drove city-bound trucks from the highways, spilling tons of the fluid into ditches.

Scores of mothers who said their babies were crying for milk appealed to Dr. John Koehler, Milwaukee health commissioner, for assistance. Dr. Koehler promised that children and invalids would be guaranteed enough for immediate needs.

Most serious of the disorders occurred at Bonduel, near Green Bay where 500 pickets engaged in a pitched battle with deputy sheriffs and succeeded in halting a truck loaded with milk.

Milk Is Dumped
A plank with spikes driven through it halted the truck and the deputy sheriffs started hurling tear gas bombs, some of which were tossed back at the officers. Boarding the truck, the farmers fought the officers with fists and clubs, forcing them to take refuge in the nearby Bonduel dairy plant.

After dumping the milk the pickets then stoned the dairy until its owners agreed to close down the plant.

No milk whatsoever was available for adults in the lake shore cities of Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, Sheboygan, Green Bay and Appleton. Stores were forbidden to sell it by Gov. A. G. Schmiedeman.

HEARING FRIDAY IN CADE MYSTERY

where a preliminary hearing will be held some time Friday. In the meantime District Attorney John S. Powers prepared to get the cases ready for the June term of criminal court.

The arrest of the men and women named came only after considerable quiet investigation since that Sunday morning when William M. Cade was found in his living room, dead from a blow on the head. District Attorney Powers stated that the group under arrest had made certain statements which linked them up with a party that had been held at Cade's on Saturday night, October 15 and that after thorough investigation and a conference between city, county and state officers the charges were made.

Ball of $1,500 each was set in the charges of accessory after the fact. Raymond McCowin was the only one to furnish bail, at once.

The death of Mr. Cade was a shocking thing. His son, Russell, had gone out to the house where the old man lived alone, expecting to visit his father on Sunday morning, October 16. Instead of finding his father alive and well he found him on the floor in a pool of his own blood.

Neighbors volunteered the information that there had been a party the night before which had lasted until the early hours of the morning. For a few days the trail was warm and then died away. Apparently the search for the persons responsible for the death of Mr. Cade had finished, but it went on quietly, ending in the arrests of Monday afternoon.

Tax on charges of pipe lines, including both an increase in the present rate on oil transportation charges and gas.

Levy on sugar, coffee, tea, peppers and spices.

The new tax bill—which President Roosevelt decided to leave to congress—may be completed this week, according to Chairman Doughton (D) of North Carolina of the house ways and means committee.

President Roosevelt plans to send a special message to congress tomorrow urging the huge public works bond issue and creation of a partnership between the government and industry to stabilize wages, regulate production and lessen the hours of employment.

The pipe lines tax proposal is understood to differ from the present tax of four per cent on oil pipe line charges, and to extend to all pipe lines. It is estimated that $40,000,000 would be raised from this source.

HAS A GREAT DEAL TO EXPLAIN

WEDNESDAY bids fair to be a day big with the fate of Hitler and of Germany. For then he will call the Reichstag together to expound and defend the policies which are rapidly isolating his country from the rest of the world. There is no question that this has been their result. The hostility aroused in Great Britain, which has been conspicuously moderate in her attitude, is highly significant. Criticism of France has ceased, and the Entente is renewing itself. The German attitude towards disarmament is alienating the United States. So Hitler is to try to correct "the erroneous views" of Germany which the rest of the world is disposed to hold. If he insists on the right to rearm, the menace of his foreign policy can not be disregarded.

Meanwhile Von Papen, the Vice Chancellor, with characteristic effrontery, complains that the situation is just what it was in 1914, and that Germany is again encircled by a ring of foreign foes, who are unable to comprehend the extent of the spiritual evolution in Germany. What he means is not precisely clear. Is the persecution of the Jews evidence of this evolution? It is interesting to note that in Austria, Germany's ally in the World War, Nazi visitors have been told they are not welcome. It may be doubted if any explanations Hitler may be disposed to make will be accepted by any of Germany's neighbors.

LEND FOR WORK

Up to March 31 the government had lent, through its Reconstruction Finance Corporation, $2,587,000,000. By this time it is nearly $3,000,000,000.

Two-thirds of the tremendous sum dispensed in 14 months went to financial institutions to bolster credit. Banks and trust companies got half of it. Several hundred millions more went to building and loan associations, insurance companies and mortgage loan companies. The rest went mostly to business corporations—largely railroads and other utilities—likewise to support their credit.

This policy was necessary. It saved many important business institutions from bankruptcy and kept the general credit situation from growing even worse than it did. Indirectly it helped millions of people by safeguarding their savings and investments. But it had one general defect. It was not directly and immediately productive.

The R. F. C. saved many institutions from collapse, yet did not live up to its own name and purpose, because it was not "reconstructive." It did not rebuild business. It did not make work. The banks that got loans did not pass them on for productive use.

With other government expenditures directed to the same end, and private business already showing healthy signs of revival the country may soon be humming with cheerful activity.

NO "SANTA CLAUSING," PLEASE

Fear is frequently expressed that Uncle Sam, in going into an international conference for the restoration of world prosperity, will be placed in a position where he will consciously or unconsciously be playing the part of Lady Bountiful to the entire world.

There is yet no reason, of course, to believe that the present administration will not look after the interests of the United States in any agreements which may be made at London. In placing an embargo on the export of gold and permitting the dollar to take care of itself in the world market, President Roosevelt has placed Uncle Sam in a good position for bargaining at London. To throw away the advantage now by unwise tariff or debt agreement in the coming conference would, of course, be the height of folly and it is sincerely to be hoped that our representatives at London will have their feet squarely on the ground and their heads under their hats instead of up in the clouds.

It is the general opinion of those most interested in the welfare of American industry that no tariff or trade agreements should be made by representatives of the United States before our own industries are securely protected against depreciated foreign currencies and any preferential trade agreements which have been made by foreign nations.

In this respect, James A. Farrell, former head of the U. S. Steel Corporation and now president of the American Foreign Trade Council, stated recently in a round table discussion of foreign trade in the United States Chamber of Commerce that Uncle Sam cannot afford to enter the London conference as an "international Santa Claus." He called attention to recent trade agreements made by Great Britain and some of the South American countries and certainly they are not entirely in keeping with the spirit of Security of State Cordell Hull's idealistic utterances on the necessity for lowering trade barriers and of a tariff truce until the proper results can be achieved at the London conference.

The fact is, of course, that the importance of world tariffs in the present economic depression have been exaggerated. The high tariffs now extant in Europe are a result rather than a cause of the depression. Let us not lose sight of the fact that the world-wide depression was the result of over-expansion during and following the World War. Expansion of credit in America to dangerous lengths finally brought on the crash.

Our foreign trade has never represented more than ten per cent of our total business and it has not shrunk as much in proportion as our domestic trade.

Bible Thought For Today

They that sow in tears shall reap in joy.—Psalms 126:5.

IN TRAFFIC

As you must have observed some drivers approached red traffic light with a gradually reduced speed, while others rush headlong right up to the "stop" line, jam down the brakes and pull up with a jerk.

that shakes the car and its occupants like a suddenly awakened earthquake. In the same way we find different people moving through the traffic of life. The far-sighted man who approaches his problems with caution is not so shaken when he finds himself "up against it," as is the man who does not ease up on his speed when he sees the red light ahead.

RESPECT MARRIAGE DUTIES

You single fellows should cease your efforts to have the young married man—a former member of your crowd—take part in the things you do.

He wants to retain your friendship, but he knows that he not only has but the money to squander, as he did before marriage, but he has the wishes of another to consider.

It is true that, while he may be happily married, there are times when he feels that he would like to be "back in the old crowd."

He may not be as strong as he should in resisting the temptation, when assailed by arguments put forth to draw him back and break down his self-control—his realization of what he should do as a married man.

Marriage means curtailing a man's personal expense in the majority of cases.

The young man can't afford to scatter his dollars as formerly.

Adjustment, with its self-sacrifice, is the hard part of being a married man, particularly during the first years of marriage.

There are set expenses to be met, and a certain position to be maintained, and that means management and personal sacrifice.

So unless a young man is willing to do his part in every way, he would better not get into matrimonial harness.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

IT'S NAME IS "BOCK"

The teacher had called for some verses on the possibility that spring might have arrived. Her young pupils all tackled the muse with somewhat doubtful results, save in one case. This won the contest:

It came upon a midnight clear
When Congress passed a bill for beer.

Then folks who came from far and near.

Sang "Hail Columbia, Spring is here."

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

THE NEIGHBOR

Time was when I was very small

And ill in bed I lay.

A kindly neighbor used to call

Who lived across the way.

Into my room, it seemed to me,

She tripped on fairy feet

And whispered on so cheerily:

"Here's something good to eat!"

So strangely is the mind impressed,

That neighbor seemed to me

Of all good folks the very best

That I should ever see.

For cookies from her pantry shelf,

A dish of raspberry jam

Or broth which she had made herself

All grateful folk I am.

Why should I think of her today?

Well, that I scarcely know.

But one like her went 'cross the way

With tray in hand, and so

I watched her hasten to a door

And guessed perhaps that she Was taking jam and cookies for

Some child resembling me.

Beneath the linen spotless white

I knew was something sweet

To tempt a sick child's appetite.

And driving down the street

Thought I in life there's much that's good.

Despite the wrong man tells;

In every little neighborhood

Some kindly woman dwells.

Lawrence County Farms And Farmers

By H. R. McCulloch, County Agent

HELP HENS TO KEEP UP NORMAL WEIGHT

Heavy fall production resulting from earlier hatching and modern methods of feeding and lighting has brought about a tendency toward earlier molting of birds and lower egg production through the spring months.

Care must be exercised to maintain the body weight of the pullets. Poultrymen should not be too eager to reduce the amount of grain fed at the first signs of spring. If the birds become thin, they are likely to show some signs of molt and decided drop in production it may be best to feed a wet mash daily thru the spring and summer.

As the weather becomes warmer, more ventilation will be needed in the laying house. Hens find it most difficult to adjust themselves to extreme changes in weather. Lower production and smaller eggs are likely to result from extreme heat in the laying house.

TRAIN YOUNG APPLE TREE FOR STRENGTH

Growers who are planting apple orchards this spring and are looking to the future realize that the pruning of the trees receive this season is probably the most important from the standpoint of proper shaping.

This shaping is effected in two distinctly different ways, depending on the age of the tree at planting time. Two-year-old trees generally have been headed in the nursery the previous season and forced to send out branches at approximately 30 to 36 inches from the ground. In pruning such a tree at planting time, the uppermost strong and more or less central branches are allowed to remain for a leader. This should be on the windward side of the tree if possible. In addition to the leader, two side branches are left, all others being removed. In selecting the side branches to leave, choose two with wide-angled crotches 24 to 30 inches from the ground. These branches should be on approximately opposite sides of the trunk and spaced as far apart as possible up and down the trunk.

After selection of the side branches they are headed back so that they are only two-thirds to three-fourths as long as the leader, which is left unheaded or only slightly headed back. Such pruning will cause the side branches to be smaller than the leader and will, therefore, encourage strong crotches. Leaving four or five branches of about the same length results in a crowded condition and very weak crotches.

When the one-year-old tree comes from the nursery, it is only a whip and generally has no side branches. The practice of debudding offers probably the best means of shaping such trees. This plan has been developed at State College since 1923. It consists of selecting three to five buds in the desired positions and removal of all others. The growth of the tree is thus directed into branches spaced where they will need very little pruning in the first few years, and a strong, well-balanced framework generally is secured.

Debudding is done best a little later in the season when some of the buds have made one-fourth to one-half inch of growth. A bud is selected on the windward side of the tree at the height of the lowest desired limb. About eight to 12 inches above this point and one-third of the way around the trunk another bud is selected. The third is selected in a similar way, going from the second bud. This selection is carried on to the top of the tree. Then the tree is cut off a few inches from the top to a bud on the windward side.

Selected buds are marked temporarily with spring clothes pins, and all others are removed. The resulting tree will be much stronger and will require less pruning than the tree secured by the more common practice of heading at 24 to 36 inches and forcing out several branches very close together on the trunk.

causes the leg or pastern to grow in a twisted position. Before the foot is trimmed, the points to be corrected should be observed as the colt stands at rest. Then the foot should be lifted and the wall trimmed off level with the sole of the foot unless there is some angle to be corrected.

GET POTATO SPRAYER READY FOR SERVICE

A rainy day or when it is too wet to proceed with planting, can be profitably spent in checking over the potato sprayer and getting it in proper working order. Growers who take advantage of such an opportunity have ample time to make repairs and replacement of parts as may be needed.

Records show that early applications are important in efficient control of enemies of the potato crop. Stimulation to the foliage recently has been shown to be much greater in the early part of the season. Growers who were ready to make early applications on time have received more consistent spray results than those who have been delayed by an improperly conditioned sprayer.

Some points that should not miss attention when checking over the sprayer are: pump packing, pump plungers, nozzle discs, hose and connections, pump valves and pump bearings, engines should be carefully inspected and put into the best of working order. Lack of compression, sticking valves, improper firing and faulty gas feeds are common ills of the engine.

Plenty of oil is indispensable in getting all parts of the sprayer to function properly.

TURKEY EGGS HATCH BEST WHEN HUMIDITY IS HIGH

Young turkeys pip the eggs until the shells are broken and the tips of their beaks protrude. Then they rest for a while before they cut their way out of the shells. This is known as the "rest period," which may last from two to 12 hours.

A turkey grower, who hatched eggs from many different flocks observed that eggs from some flocks had consistently short resting periods, while eggs from other flocks rested for a long time. There seems to be a tendency for pullets to be sluggish when hatched, if they had a long resting period. Wild turkeys usually are spry and alert when hatched, and they generally pip and almost immediately push their way out of the shells.

If the moisture drops in the incubator when the embryos are resting, there is a tendency for them to dry to the shells. For this reason, it is a good practice to reduce the ventilation for about 24 hours before pipping time. This helps to conserve the moisture in the incubator.

More action and pep may be put into a sluggish hatch by sprinkling the eggs thoroughly with lukewarm water before pipping. Moisture also can be added in other ways during the hatching period. Slight films of moisture over the glass of doors at hatching time indicated proper moisture conditions in non-forced draft machines. If the water streams down the glass, it indicates too much humidity and the ventilators should be opened accordingly.

PLAN SPECIAL ZOO FOR PARIS CHILDREN

PARIS—Tiny Parisians have something to look forward to in the form of a nursery zoo in which they will be able, not only to touch, but even pick up and play with young lions, bears and other wild animals. It is proposed to establish this zoo in the Jardin d'Acclimatation of the Bois. The animals will be reared from their earliest infancy by human hands.

The veterinary surgeon who is to be in charge of this baby zoo has found that little animals love to play and run with children.

Canada is larger than the United States proper and Alaska combined. The blow-fly takes less than a day to develop within the egg.

He flips old suspenders to show why fresh Gulf gas is better

WHEN gas gets old—STALE—something goes out of it that never returns. It gives less power on hills—less mileage on the road. Your motor starts slower... seems sluggish. Gum forms faster.

New R-D-R Process insures FRESHNESS in Gulf

Gulf's high-speed delivery system rushes fresh Gulf Gas to the pumps. And that gas stays fresh longer, due to Gulf's exclusive R-D-R process—a process that actually delays deterioration.

5 important facts about fresh gas

1. Fresh Gas starts faster than stale gas.
2. Fresh Gas gives you more power than stale gas.
3. Fresh Gas gives you more mileage.
4. Fresh Gas is higher in anti-knock rating than stale gas.
5. Fresh Gas is cleaner-burning—contains less motor fouling residue than stale gas.

Cost 85 Cents To Put Rheumatic Cripple Back To Work Again

Now Joyously Happy

While all his family looked on in astonishment and all his friends were amazed, one man took the pain, swelling and agony from his tortured joints in 48 hours and did it with that famous rheumatic prescription known to pharmacists as Allenru.

This powerful yet safe remedy is wonderful—its action is almost magical where uric acid and other circulating poisons cause agony and pain—the excess uric acid poisons starts to leave your body in 24 hours.

Just get one 85 cent bottle of Allenru from Eckerd's Cut Rate Drug Inc. or any live druggist—take it as directed and if in 48 hours your pains haven't left you get your money back.

It works just as swiftly with Neuritis, Sciatica, Lumbago and Neuralgia do to similar cause.

Reduction Of One Mill Is Made At Meeting Held Last Evening

Directors of the Slippery Rock township board met at Princeton last evening, and set the millage for the coming year at 14 mills, a reduction of one mill over last year.

NOW SCIENTISTS EXPLAIN

...precious elements Nature puts in skin to keep it youthful are actually in this soap

The gradual loss of these elements makes skin old-looking, dry, unattractive.
Lux Toilet Soap is an unquestionable aid in keeping skin young-looking, softly smooth
... scientist tells stars

Wonderfully soft, smooth skin—this charm is every woman's birthright! For nature has given to skin of every type—to your skin, too—precious elements that keep it young, softly smooth.

Then why does skin grow dull and drab—old before its time? You've probably often wondered. And now scientists explain...

The Secret of Youthful Skin

Skin, science has found, contains certain precious elements. These elements, found in youthful skin of every type, keep it fresh, smooth, attractive, young... help guard it when exposed to wind, dust and sun.

The gradual loss of these elements is what makes skin get old looking, dry, rough, unattractive. But scientists give this welcome and all-important message—you can now check the loss of these precious elements.

This Soap actually contains Precious Elements found in skin itself

Now scientists attest the fact that Lux Toilet Soap, with its complete freedom from harshness, its ready solubility and its content of precious elements is an unquestionable aid in keeping the skin young looking... softly smooth.

Small wonder that Lux Toilet Soap is used by the screen stars, and has been for years. 686 of the 694 important Hollywood actresses are enthusiastic in their praise. And women everywhere have been proving for themselves that this fine soap actually keeps skin fresher—younger—more attractive.

The lovely screen stars must have radiant, youthful skin. Small wonder that this fragrant, white soap has been made the official soap in all the large film studios.

A Younger Looking YOU

SCIENCE tells you that pure, safe Lux Toilet Soap actually contains precious elements all skin must have to look youthful. These elements are found in the skin itself—an abundance in fresh, youthful skin, less in skin that is growing old, unlovely.

HOLLYWOOD has proved through years of daily use this soap actually keeps every type of skin younger looking.

MILLIONS of women (and men) everywhere confirm Hollywood's experience.

Won't YOU prove the beautifying effect this fragrant, white Lux Toilet Soap can have on your skin?

"I found out the secret of keeping my skin young looking," says Mrs. J. I. Potter, of Montclair, New Jersey

"I found out the secret of keeping my skin young looking—simply by using the same care for my skin that the Hollywood stars use... Lux Toilet Soap. I've been using this nice soap for a long time. From the very beginning my skin took on a new freshness and became wonderfully improved."

Constitutional Amendments To Be Balloted On

Twelve Important Issues Will Be Decided By Voters On November 7

SOLDIERS BONUS ONE OF MEASURES

By JOHN W. SCOTZIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, May 16.—Those of Pennsylvania's citizenry who trip to the polls on November 7 will be called upon to decide twelve issues of utmost significance in addition to their selection of aspiring officeholders.

Critical voters who sat back and viewed the general assembly's work during its 18 weeks' session now will be endowed with the power to determine the fate of a dozen proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Seven of the proposals were approved for the second time in the last session of the general assembly and the remaining five by previous legislatures. A proposed amendment must be passed at two legislative sessions before it may be submitted to the voters. Old age pension amendments, passed by one assembly, failed to emerge from senate committee at the 1933 session and hence will not be on the ballot in November.

voters on these issues, no additional proposals for constitutional amendments may be submitted again until 1938.

Sports Bill Up

To these twelve items on the ballot will be added the question incorporated in the Schwartz Sunday sports bill and the election of fifteen delegates-at-large to a constitutional convention to consider repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Foremost of the twelve proposals, in the light of the state's destitute and the benefits derived from state-aided hospitals, is the question of floating a $25,000,000 bond issue. The bond issue would provide $20,000,000 for unemployment relief and the remaining $5,000,000 for state-aided hospitals and colleges and to meet other expenses incurred by the state during the 1933-35 biennium.

Should the proposal be adversely acted upon, more than 160 state-aided hospitals would be deprived of an aggregate of more than two million dollars. Gov. Gifford Pinchot would be required to summon the legislators in a special session to devise other means of providing the budgeted funds, or to overhaul the budget. Either drastic economies in departmental expenditures and salaries or imposition of new or higher taxes would result.

Other proposed amendments on which the voters will act in November provide:

Authorizing the legislature to make appropriations to blind persons 21 years of age or older. (Approved by 1927 and 1929 legislatures.)

Authorizing the legislature to permit cities and boroughs to assess the cost of highway improvements against abutting property in all cases where no prior assessment has been made for similar improvements. (Approved 1927 and 1929 legislatures.)

Empowering the legislature to prescribe the nature and kind of investments for trust funds by fiduciaries. (Approved 1929 and 1931 legislatures.)

Would Drop Poll Tax
Authorizing the legislature to float a $50,000,000 bond issue for compensation for war veterans. (Approved 1929 and 1931 legislatures.)

Eliminating the present requirement that a citizen must pay a state or county tax to be eligible to vote. (Approved by 1929 and 1931 legislatures.)

Authorizing the legislature to float a $10,000,000 bond issue for the acquisition of toll bridges, the bonds to be amortized by the collection of tolls after which the purchased bridges will be free. (Approved by 1931 and 1933 legislatures.)

Empowering cities laying out highways to acquire more land than needed for actual construction to permit future widening of such highways. (Approved by the 1931 and 1933 legislatures.)

Permitting Philadelphia to incur an indebtedness of 15 per cent of the assessed valuation of its taxable property. (Approved by the 1931 and 1933 legislatures.)

Conferring power in connection with the development of "greater Pittsburgh". (Approved by 1931 and 1933 legislatures.)

Making the state constitution conform with the interstate commerce commission railroad transportation rate rulings by providing that no higher rate shall be charged by common carriers for short hauls of passengers or freight than for longer hauls over the same line.

Giving Philadelphia power, when providing additional transit facilities to levy assessments against the property benefitted thereby.

Heir To Dukedom Of Marlborough Opens Poultry And Dairy Shop In London

PRODUCE RAISED ON BIG ESTATE

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, May 16.—Heir to the fortune and vast estates of the Dukedom of Marlborough, the 35-year-old Marquess of Blandford is the latest English aristocrat to turn shopkeeper.

He is the eldest son of the ninth Duke of Marlborough by his first wife, the former Consuelo Vanderbilt of New York, who divorced the Duke in 1920 and married Col. Balsa of France the following year.

Meat, poultry, eggs and butter from his estate at Lowesby Hall, Leicestershire, form the basis of the new venture, and the Marquess has opened up attractive premises in the heart of London's fashionable Mayfair for their sale.

Doing Good Business
Elegantly dressed women cast critical eyes over the store on the opening day and good business was reported.

Discussing his store, Lord Blandford explained that he has been running for the estate hands. "During that time I sold most of the produce to a number of London stores," he said. "Then some of my friends suggested that I open a store."

"Already we are doing good business, and the first day we had to send post haste to the farm for another supply of butter. This is rather remarkable because we charge high prices for it. But customers are allowed to taste the butter and they realize it is very good."

"And," the shopkeeper who is heir to 20,000 acres and a former guards captain continued proudly, "our eggs are never more than two days old."

Death Valley Test Car To Visit City

Machine Which Operated Ten Hours In Scorching Heat To Be Exhibited

Motorists will have an opportunity of seeing the Socony-Vacuum test car, which operated for ten hours without a cooling system, in the blistering 136 degree heat of Death Valley, here Wednesday when the machine will be exhibited on the streets of the city.

The run, made last July, was undertaken as a part of a series of tests conducted to observe the performance of Mobilgas, Mobilgas Ethyl and Mobilol, under extreme atmospheric conditions. Death Valley was chosen because it is the lowest and hottest place in America. The car is gray with white lettering on both sides.

Employment Of Aliens Is Banned, By Municipality

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., May 16.—Beaver Falls councilmen acted today to protect themselves from possible malfeasance in office, punishable by a heavy fine, when without a vote they determined to dismiss any alien who may be an employee of the city.

The stand against alien labor was taken after it was reported by Sam S. Hanauer that Erie city council had taken such action, when it was learned that a bill passed in 1895 terms it unlawful for Pennsylvania municipalities to employ non-citizens. Violation of the law constitutes malfeasance and subjects city officials to a $1,000 fine.

Farmers Expect To Re-finance Loans

Many farmers throughout Lawrence county are expecting to re-finance their farm loans under the farm relief bill which President Roosevelt has just signed.

This fund is to be used to assist farmers facing loss of their homes through foreclosures, including those who still have a chance to redeem their property. The president has asked that there be no foreclosures, pending the putting of the plan in operation.

(International News Service) AUBURN, Me., May 16.—While guardsmen patrolled the smoldering ruins of New Auburn, state and city authorities today launched investigations into Maine's second conflagration within two weeks which destroyed 250 buildings, left 1,500 homeless, and caused damage estimated at $2,000,000.

No loss of life was reported but 24 persons, the majority volunteer fire fighters, were reported slightly injured. These with the homeless were being cared for by Red Cross and Salvation Army workers at the State armory and at other home and buildings thrown open to house the stricken.

Governor Louis J. Brann, who rushed from Ellsworth, where he had been supervising reconstruction plans of that city which was laid waste eight days ago by a $1,250,000 fire—the confessed work of an incendiary—remained on the scene practically the entire night.

'Play The Game' Spirit Need At Camps, County's Forest Regiment Is Told

It's a novel army... That's this Civilian Conservation Corps which President Roosevelt is mobilizing to enter America's thickest forests, hoping that generations to come can look with pride upon their timberlands and utter silent thanks for the "forest regiment" of 1933.

And Lawrence county men, 100 of them met yesterday, can share the tribute which those future generations will pay.

As the county's first-called foresters sat on bleachers in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium Monday afternoon, listening to recruiting directors describe the highspots of their job, the air of anticipation grew tense. "I wonder what it'll be like" seemed to be what every youth had to say. They strained their ears to hear the instructions.

Group Happy Today

It was a happy and hopeful band of representative New Castle young men, and, without the encouragement of local leaders, the troop will go to camp intent on contributing something worthwhile. The government has something to offer the boys; the boys, in turn, can help it.

"We want fellows who'll play the game" was the key message Dr. G. S. Bennett, chief of the recruiting job here, passed on. "It's the team spirit we'll need, the one for all and all for one spirit."

Just how anxious the boys have been to get started was indicated when one said he has his hair clippers ready to pack in his traveling kit. He plans to make extra pennies as a camp barber.

At the forest camps the boys will work eight hours, while the remaining hours will be theirs to spend as they like. The air of sports circulated around the local group yesterday.

Dr. Bennett and R. L. Meermans, superintendent of the Y's state cooperative employment agency, co-operating in the recruiting work, spoke to the first group informally yesterday. All it was a pow-wow over the camp trip.

And you can rest assured that until the time for their medical examination comes, the regiment of 100 will be "on their toes" for the call they have been waiting for weeks to hear.

Dr. Bennett and Mr. Meermans will meet with other Lawrence county recruits as they are called.

District Rotarians Dine As Westminster's Guests

New Castle Representatives Attend Dinner At College Last Night

NEW DISTRICT CHIEF DELIVERS ADDRESS

(Special To The News) NEW WILMINGTON, May 16.—Eighty-nine members of district Rotary clubs were guests of Westminster college at a testimonial dinner honoring District Governor-elect Dr. L. H. Beeler, Grove City, given in The Hillside, girls' dormitory, last night.

Representatives of clubs from New Castle, Beaver Falls, Franklin, Pittsburgh, Sharon, Grove City, Zelienople, Mercer, Kittanning and New Wilmington attended the event.

The Westminster college band, directed by Prof. Donald O. Cameron, presented a band concert from 6:30 to 7 o'clock, immediately preceding the dinner.

Dr. Galbreath Is Host

Following the excellent meal, W. Fillmore Campbell, presiding for the New Wilmington club, introduced President Robert F. Galbreath, the evening's host.

A program of music was presented by the students and faculty of the music conservatory. Miss Arna Barr, Finleyville, sang a solo, while Prof. Allan B. Davis sang two solos.

Hear New Governor

Dr. L. H. Beeler, incoming Rotary governor, in whose honor the dinner was given, was introduced as the principal speaker. Dr. Beeler spoke on the ideals of Rotary. He said that "Rotary is not a religion, not a political party, and not merely a philosophy."

The new district chief spoke of current problems and the need for service and idealism in a world in such dire straits.

The holiness of toil and the sanctity of work were pointed out and lauded by Dr. Beeler, because, he said, "Rotary picks us because of the task we do."

A trio of Westminster coeds sang three numbers. The numbers were sung by Dorothy Watkins, Dorothy Patch and Lillian Baird. Ethel Dennison was the accompanist.

Thanks for the dinner were formally voiced by Mr. Campbell, who opened the program chairman.

Former District Governor Roy Neville, Sharon, was introduced at the close.

From New Castle, president W. J. Caldwell, president-elect Ralph Botsinger, Jacob F. Rentz, vice president; R. A. Eckles, vice president-elect, and Carl E. Paisley, secretary, attended. City Solicitor Robert McK. White, was also present.

The entire college faculty attended.

'CUB SCOUT' GROUP TO CONVENE AGAIN

Cub Committee Chairman C. A. Bolen of the Boy Scouts of America will convene his corps of leaders at the chamber of commerce rooms, Greer building, on Thursday evening, May 18 at 7:45 o'clock. Instead of tonight, as was previously announced.

Men who attended the first meeting of the group will report on progress of the work in their respective institutions. Other men interested in cubbing may attend.

Youngwood High Teacher Signed By School Board

Protest Raised By High Students Saves Job For Science Teacher

(International News Service) GREENSBURG, Pa., May 16.—George C. Hein, Youngwood high school science teacher, whose fight for re-election precipitated a rift between parents, students and the school board, today won his three weeks' battle for renewal of his teaching contract.

The delay in renewing the teacher's contract was caused by protests from citizens that Hein was discussing evolution with students in his biology class.

Hein was renounced to the teaching staff for the 1933-34 term at a board meeting which did not adjourn until early this morning. The session was called to deal exclusively with the situation arising over Hein's method of instructing biology students. The vote was not announced.

DuBois Man On Trial Charged With Shooting

Hope To Convict Joe Butera For Wounding Of Attorney In Ambush

ATTORNEY M'CALL STICKS TO STORY

(International News Service) CLEARFIELD, Pa., May 16.—The prosecution was expected to complete its case late today or tomorrow in the trial of Joe Butera, 32, of DuBois, charged with having shot and wounded Attorney Lisle D. McCall in an ambush February 10. McCall, taking the witness stand as prosecuting witness, identified the defendant as his assailant.

"I believed he was the last man I would ever see," McCall told the court. "His features made a deep impression on my mind."

McCall said he was only three feet from his assailant just before the fourth shot was fired into his chest and that he had a good look at the gun wielder's face under a light eight feet overhead.

He described the eyes, face, and clothing of his assailant in detail.

Sticks To Story

Defense counsel were unable to shake his story during cross-examination.

McCall's wife corroborated his story. Her story also remained unshaken during cross-examination by the defense.

Scores of spectators jammed into the courtroom to hear the testimony today and others milled around in the corridors of the court house waiting their chance to enter the trial room.

Scores Of 139 For 36 Hole Test Is Low For Entire Nation; 118 Qualify

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 16.—Four stars will be on the sidelines when the United States open golf championship starts at Chicago June 9.

The 118 players who came through in yesterday's 36-hole qualifying rounds on 20 courses throughout the country did not include Chick Evans, former holder of the open and amateur crowns; Jack Westland, finalist in the 1931 amateur; Gene Homans, runner-up in the 1930 amateur; and Jock Hutchinson, former British open champion.

Thirty-three players, leaders in last year's open, already had qualified. The 33 include two amateurs, and 19 more qualified yesterday as against 99 professionals.

39 Is Low Francis Scheider, Dallas, and Leonard Dodson, Springfield, Mo., each shot 139, the lowest score of the day for 36 holes. Tom Talbot, another Springfield player, and Scheider had the lowest 18-hole score, 68.

Johnny Kinder, youthful champion of New Jersey, with 145, topped the list of 15 golfers who qualified out of a field of 104 in the New York sector. All 15 are professionals. Johnny Farrell, former open champion, was second to Kinder with 147. Cyril Walker, former open champion, supplied a touch of drama when he made the grade for the first time in four years.

Parks Is Leader

Pittsburgh, May 16.—Sam Parks,
Jr., Uniontown, p. shot a 70-75—145 to lead the seven qualifiers in the Pittsburgh district in the national open golf trials. The others followed in this order: Pete O'Hara, Perry Delvecchio, E. Loeffler, Al
Alcroft, Knox Young and Charley Manning.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Eddie Meade of Cleveland forwards a piece of news. He states Henry Firpo, the Louisville slugger is now under his banner. Firpo has been hiring and firing managers with the abandon of a duck in a pond. Firpo broke into boxing with Hugh Ross of Louisville as a manager. Jimmy Dunn bought Firpo's contract for several hundred dollars. After Dunn and Firpo quit doing business, Larry Keogh of Cleveland undertook to pilot Henry, but it wasn't long until Henry went with Eddie Stanton of Chicago. Firpo was a good drawing card in this city. Every time he flung gloves here the box office showed a profit. Some fans wanted to see him stretched cold. Others wanted to see him stretch his opponent low. And when such a feeling becomes prevalent the box office becomes a winner.

George Chip, former king of middleweight punchers says he met Jackie Padden at Ellwood City during the Shelby Social club's amateur battles. Jackie, according to George, was quite a bantamweight about 15 years ago.

Having watched the amateur punch and getting punched at Elwood City recently local fans are getting the fight fever and daily they want to know when more boxing will be on tap. Here's the dope: Jefferson A. C. bouts at Humbert Hall, May 24. Five fights.

Met Maurice Fulkerson at Pulaski
a few days ago. "How's Big Dan Dalley?" inquired Maurice, after which he fawned the Dalley-Ross fight. "Dalley had Big Tony just as tired as Tony had him when the bout was over," said Maurice who is now 55.

One of the pieces of news picked up in Pulaski vicinity was the report that four deer have adopted the Flats as a roaming place.
They've been seen there several times. It has been some years since deer loitered in that section.

Several fishermen were seen angling for catfish in the Shenango near the Street bridge, this city. This being told to ex-sheriff Ed Ayres he replied: "The Shenango has a lot of catfish in this vicinity, too." He said at one time Shenango teemed with fish.

Corbett Mitchell, one of the prime movers in the Shenango Society's association has a deer head on display at his place of business. It has a very good looking rack. Corbett is a good shot.
He is known as "Dead Eye Dick" to some of his hunting pals.

Ed Strangler Lewis threw Joe Savoldi in view of 10,000 fans in New York City last night. Here's how it happened: After 40 minutes of wrestling Savoldi repeatedly bowed over the veteran with flying tackles and twice he staged his "flying drop kick" leaping into the air and kicking Lewis in the chest.

He tried a third drop kick and Lewis sidestepped. Savoldi plunged through the ropes. He was unable to return to the ring and the referee counted him out.

Donie Bush, manager of the Reds,

Joe Savoldi Drops Title

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 16.—Jumping
Joe Savoldi's brief but spectacular reign as a wrestling champion was ended today as the result of a drop-kick to the head.

The former Notre Dame All-American football star droppedkick himself out of his claim to the title in his bout at Madison Square Garden with Ed (Strangler) Lewis of Glendale, Cal., three-time champion.
Savoldi apparently had reduced Lewis to a pulp by his favorite drop-kick—hurling himself into the air and kicking the Strangler in the chest with both feet. After 44 minutes and 32 seconds, Lewis agilely ducked the next rush and jumping Joe went flying through the ropes and caromed off the ring onto the cement floor. He was carried to his dressing room but soon was jumping about as usual.

scopes in the world are in America.

At the end, his men were morose,

By DAVIS J. WALSH

International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 16.—Somewhat less than one year ago, the boys, greatly saddened by an event that had just taken place, sat themselves down in a righteous glow and, with a sob in every syllable, wrote a number of very arresting passages about the outrage that had been visited upon John J. McGraw. I'm not much on anniversaries, particularly those that do not matter. But it's about time to call in the outfielders on that one, if not with the idea of making amends, at least to be decent enough to return what we've taken.

In other words, we gave so understandably to McGraw that we had to take something. By inference, from his successor, young Mr. William Terry, I now propose to give it back. This, of course, is very generous of me but then it pays to be broad and my warm, impulsive nature is the talk of the town.

Wrong About Terry

Briefly, we were wrong about Mr.
Terry although, at that, he was bright enough to pay us no heed, which, generally speaking, is a good idea. He has accepted the "nothing" ball club that McGraw managed to assemble and has taken it into a near-tie for first place in the National league. Barring one man, nobody is hitting. But everybody is hustling, and, if that fact doesn't touch a sensitive response down under the man's waistcoat, then John J. McGraw is tender like a nail file.
For, if anything, we were more wrong about McGraw. A great personality once, the parade had gone by him, and strangely this was known neither to the writers who lauded him nor to the man they wrote about. Times changed, but McGraw didn't. It was that simple.

Seldom Praised

At the moment they unfrocked him, for instance, he was still looking for a second baseman to replace the second baseman he had run out of town some years before.
The latter was a Mr. Frisch who is still out in St. Louis, helping to win pennants as he once helped to win them for McGraw, and it is no more than reasonable to assume that, had he remained in our midst, McGraw might still be here too. But this would have deprived us of the young man known as William Terry, and somehow that would not seem at all sensible now.

"He's the coming man of baseball," said Bill Klem, the umpire, yesterday as he nursed a cracked collar bone at a local hospital.

Of course, the latter has no reason to like Mr. McGraw but this, in itself, is significant. Not enough people liked Mr. McGraw in successful years when failure loomed.

Cain collected two of the four hits yielded by Willis Hudlin and scored on Cramer's single as the A's won 1 to 0. The Mackmen ad-

ARMY PICKS CITY AS EXAM CENTER FOR FORESTERS

Doctors To Meet Recruits Of Four Counties Here—
Coming Soon

New Castle's city hall has been established as a U. S. Army recruiting station for the "forest army" contingents of Lawrence, Butler, Mercer and Venango counties, the U. S. Army notified Dr. G. S. Bennett, chief of the recruiting work here, late Monday.

It will be to this city, hereafter, that chosen recruits of this and three surrounding counties will assemble to undergo the required medical examination which they would have otherwise undergone at Pittsburgh.

First Date Not Known.

The army notice specified no date for the start of examinations, but indicated that several doctors would arrive here soon to commence their duties.

Reaching here a short time ahead of the hour he appeared before Lawrence county's first group of 100 foresters, the message permitted Dr. Bennett to pass on the news to the convened recruits. Dr. Bennett told them to stand ready for instant call to the city building for examination. Direct from the city they will head to camp.

Under the government's recruiting plan, each recruit must subject himself to a doctor's examination before he goes to the conditioning camp. If doctors reject him in the examination his hopes for forest life are blasted.

While not as rigid as the regular army medical exam, the special examinations are sufficiently thorough to detect any major physical weakness that might be aggravated by the rugged toil in the woods.

Announcement of dates for the medical examinations here will be made as the army sets them.

In Rally TodayU. S. Steel Is Firm Leader
Aided By Improvement
In Industry(International News Service)
NEW YORK, May 16.—The stock market rallied today after three days of reaction.

President Roosevelt's plea to the world for peace and the success of the world economic conference was a stimulating influence and overcame the unsettling effects of the European arms crisis, further strength in the dollar and a fresh reaction in commodities.

Commodity stocks led the rise, followed closely by the steel issues. American Sugar spurred more than 3 points to a new high while Crown Cork and National Distillers led the rise in the "wet" stocks.

U. S. Steel was a firm leader, aided by further improvement in the industry, but the pivotal stocks failed to make any worthwhile progress.

Rails were likewise inclined to lag with the exception of a few issues like New Haven and Great Northern, which showed aggressive sponsorship.

Trading was active and the ticker trailed in a buying flurry in the first hour.

American Telephone rose briskly on payment of the regular dividend by New England Telephone, an important subsidiary. Utilities were generally better under the leadership of Consolidated Gas.

E. I. du Pont and International Rayon led a sizeable uptick in the textile division, the former hitting a new high. General Motors was taken in big volume but showed only fractional changes. Auburn was strong.

ELLWOOD CITY, May 16.—With impressive ceremony the J. Wilbur Randolph Post of the American Legion of Ellwood City dedicated a war picture of 10 local men who died in the service of their country at the monthly meeting in their rooms on Sixth street last night. The picture contained the names of five men of whom the post was unable to obtain photos.

The Legion ritual was carried out in the dedication assisted by the Rev. J. R. Routledge, post chaplain. After this service the post held an important business meeting at which plans were completed for their annual Memorial Sunday service. This year the service will be held in the First Baptist church. Also plans were made for the Memorial Day program in which the post will have very active part. It was announced that the local bugle and drum corps will go to Rochester on the afternoon of May 30 to assist in a welfare campaign. While there they will participate in a bugle and drum corps competition.

On Thursday morning of this week the post will present its bi-annual legion medal award to the outstanding boy in the eighth grade. It will be presented by Comrade J. J. McLaughlin during the chapel exercises at the high school. The local auxiliary will present its award to the outstanding eighth grade girl at this time.

A minstrel show is being sponsored by the local post here on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday next week in the Lincoln auditorium. An interesting social time and entertainment was enjoyed at the close of the business session. Music was furnished by Red Baker and William Locke of this city. The post will hold its next regular meeting on May 25.

Members of the post were delighted with their act in sending flowers to local Gold Star Mothers on Mother's Day last Sunday.

Ellport School
Tax Is Levied

ELLWOOD CITY, May 16.—At a continued regular meeting held last evening at the Bend school building of the Ellport borough school board levied the tax millage for 1933-34 at a rate of 20 mills. This is a reduction of 10 mills from the 30 mill rate of preceding years. A $5 per capita tax was again assessed on every resident of Ellport. This reduction was partially by the recent bill passed by the state legislature enabling directors to make a 10 per cent cut in all teachers' salaries. If suitable arrangements can be effected with the state department of education the board will make another 10 per cent reduction.

C. W. Jackson of the People's National bank was elected to serve as treasurer for a period of one year. Charles W. McElwain will continue to serve as tax collector in the borough. J. Carl Gallaher was elected to continue as secretary for a period of four years.

HOSPITAL NOTES
ELLWOOD CITY, May 16.—Admitted Monday: Miss Audrey Snare of Todd avenue. Discharged: Walter Beighley of Harrison and Mrs. Floyd Reibold of Zelienople.CHEST DRIVE IS IN FULL SWING

ELLWOOD CITY, May 16.—Yesterday was the beginning of Ellwood City's annual campaign as the city's community chest drive went into full swing. General Chairman, Burgess Judd C. Turner and his numerous committees are at work with zest and determination to raise a sum of $19,000 by Saturday evening. If it is necessary the drive will be continued until the quota is raised or exceeded. There are 25 solicitors who are out with pledge cards to raise a fund to support the work of the city's welfare needs, the hospital and the Community Service League.

The various committees have organized in such a way as to have the town divided into various districts and each industry and section has its own captains or leaders. Due to some hitch in the plans there was no report of Monday's efforts turned in at headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce rooms. Combined reports will appear tomorrow. The progress of the drive will be recorded on the large marker on the Central school lawn. This drive has the whole-hearted support of all churches, schools, industries, and merchants.

Burgess Turner is confident that Ellwood City citizens will once again respond to this worthy event, and put the drive over as in the past. Local people have never failed to arise to the need in time of crisis. The people are urged to give what they can. School board scrip will be accepted.

Appropriation Bill Is Scored By Gov. Pinchot

Hostility To Many Features Of General Appropriation Bill Voiced

REITERATES VETO FOR TURNER BILL

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, May 16.—Hostility to many features of the $138,420,000 general appropriation bill passed by the General Assembly was voiced by Gov. Gifford Pinchot Monday when he reiterated the Turner bill (House No. 22) will be vetoed.

Refusal of the legislature to appropriate sufficient money, the governor said, will force the dismissal of some state employees on June 1. The general appropriation bill is approximately $1,300,000 below the governor's recommendations.

"House bill No. 22 is a bill in aid of sweatshops," Governor Pinchot said. "It would wipe out the bureau of mediation in the department of labor and industry. The general appropriation bill gives the bureau no appropriation."

The bureau of mediation provides machinery for the investigation and arbitration of strikes.

Scored By Pinchot
"The recent legislature was not only the most extravagant in history in terms of the money it spent itself but it has done everything possible to pile up trouble, which will cost hundreds of times the immediate cash savings," asserted the governor.

"They haven't hurt me a bit. But they have hurt the thousands of children laboring in the sweatshops; they have hurt the farmer; they have hurt industry; they have hurt everyone in Pennsylvania except me."

The appropriation bill rushed through in the final hours of the session provides reductions under the governor's recommendations in the welfare, labor and industry, agriculture, and health departments. Upon his return to the Capitol after a week's vacation, the governor began consideration of approximately 600 bills. He declined to comment on legislation other than the Turner bill, which he previously termed "fake economy."

Plan Increase In Farm Prices

Sole Aim Of Emergency Relief Act Is To Raise Price Of Farm Products

FARMERS ARE IN NEED OF CASH

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, May 16.—The sole aim of the emergency farm relief act is to raise farm prices, George N. Peek, administrator of the agricultural adjustment act said today in assuming responsibility for the administration of the gigantic measure.

Generally speaking, he said, the aim of the new law is to raise farm prices to a point where farm products will purchase as much of industrial products as they did before the war, and to keep farm prices at that level.

"This is just what farmers through their organizations have been demanding for a dozen years," he added.

Peck's statement said, in part: "To the food and textile industries, I want to make it clear that the spirit and purpose will be to act with as little interference with established institutions and methods—indeed with as little administration of any kind as is consistent with the fixed purpose of the law; namely, to raise farm prices. It is my opinion that much of that purpose can be accomplished by these industries without anything more than the aid that government and agriculture can and will give them."

RURAL PUPILS PASS IN EXAMS

List Big Beaver And Little Beaver Township Students Ready For High School

Students who recently passed the high school entrance examinations from Big Beaver and Little Beaver townships, which were given all eighth grade students in the districts in which there is not an accredited high school, have been listed by County Superintendent of Schools, John C. Syling.

Those who passed in the two townships are as follows:

Big Beaver—Druella Caldwell, Margaret Truby, Bob Noel, Betty Kirtley, Evelyn Binger, Mate Beatty, Morgan Patterson, Thomas Wilson, Louise Fontanella, Rose Beatrice, Junior Houk, Ray Householder, Charles McCullough, Frank McBride, Greta Shearer, Raymond Murdock.

Little Beaver—Allen Clark, Harry Young, Ray Jessop, Robert Lipp, Dale Murdock, Anna Peppick, June Murdock.

On the blackboard were scores of clippings, all of them bearing on feudalism, knighthood, shields and the like. On another wall were heraldic shields, designed by the youngsters themselves, and on still another wall a mural extending the length of the wall made from salvaged colored paper.

On a table was a great host of trinkets that had come from the British Isles. Souvenirs from England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales. An English meat plate capable of holding some English roast beef and the age of the plate is 200 years. Tea warmers, chinaware, fancy little boxes, all of them having a story behind them.

On the floor was a sand map, showing the British Isles and the products of the various portions. Coal, flax, coal iron all of them represented by pictures or sample of the products.

Around the base of the blackboard post cards from the Isles, pictures of Westminster Abbey, of a rural scene in Ireland, of Druidic stones in Wales, of the heaths of Scotland, and then above them, spelling lessons containing words used in connection with the feudal system.

A most interesting room and one in which visualization of lessons had been carried out a great ways. Hardly a wonder if those youngsters in the room got into their history with enthusiasm.

Instead of reciting in a colorless way what the products of the British Isles are, they make a sand map of them all. History is made a living thing through the medium they have chosen and years from now some of those youngsters will associate some historical fact with that home made castle, or a clipping or the sand map.

Miss Ruth Gillum is in charge of the room and Miss Gillum is far away from the dry history lessons you and I can remember. They pounded history into us by main strength, chiding down dates and events like so much cod liver oil. Today they chocolate coat the dose in such a way that the patient cries for more. A much better way it seems to me, of teaching history and geography and certainly more pleasant to take.

ROAMING With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Not much wonder that youngsters like to go to school today. Lessons are made into adventures, and dry pages given savor and color through the medium of visual instruction. They work out their lessons as projects and to history and geography are summoned drama, art, and the child's own ingenuity.

An example of the modern method of teaching history for example is in the Terrace Avenue School at the present time, in Grade 6-A. The youngsters have been studying English history of the Feudal period and they have worked out the idea so skillfully in project forms that a visitor drops a few h's after spending a little time there.

First they build a feudal castle. The cost of building it was nil. The main body of the building came from a large box, the dungeons on the side were made of tricker boxes, the towers and turrets were made of oatmeal boxes, the drawbridge was made of an old ruler and some lolly pop sticks and the flags were of colored Christmas card linings and lolly pop sticks. The stones for the most came from some man's garden and he was glad to get rid of them, and the sand was gathered here and there. The castle was painted with a mixture of flour and salt.

On the blackboard were scores of clippings, all of them bearing on feudalism, knighthood, shields and the like. On another wall were heraldic shields, designed by the youngsters themselves, and on still another wall a mural extending the length of the wall made from salvaged colored paper.

On a table was a great host of trinkets that had come from the British Isles. Souvenirs from England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales. An English meat plate capable of holding some English roast beef and the age of the plate is 200 years. Tea warmers, chinaware, fancy little boxes, all of them having a story behind them.

On the floor was a sand map, showing the British Isles and the products of the various portions. Coal, flax, coal iron all of them represented by pictures or sample of the products.

Around the base of the blackboard post cards from the Isles, pictures of Westminster Abbey, of a rural scene in Ireland, of Druidic stones in Wales, of the heaths of Scotland, and then above them, spelling lessons containing words used in connection with the feudal system.

A most interesting room and one in which visualization of lessons had been carried out a great ways. Hardly a wonder if those youngsters in the room got into their history with enthusiasm.

Instead of reciting in a colorless way what the products of the British Isles are, they make a sand map of them all. History is made a living thing through the medium they have chosen and years from now some of those youngsters will associate some historical fact with that home made castle, or a clipping or the sand map.

Miss Ruth Gillum is in charge of the room and Miss Gillum is far away from the dry history lessons you and I can remember. They pounded history into us by main strength, chiding down dates and events like so much cod liver oil. Today they chocolate coat the dose in such a way that the patient cries for more. A much better way it seems to me, of teaching history and geography and certainly more pleasant to take.

TOOK PILLS FOR 30 YEARS, THEN CEREAL BROUGHT RELIEF

Mr. Forsythe Endorses ALL-BRAN for Constipation

If you suffer from headaches, loss of appetite and energy or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read this voluntary letter:

"After taking pills and tablets for about thirty years for constipation, I started to take your ALL-BRAN three times a day according to directions. Today I can eat cheese, and that is binding, and certainly feel fine."—Mr. Ed. Forsythe, Box 219, Youngstown, N. Y.

Science says ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. In addition, ALL-BRAN is rich in blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using patent medicines—so often habit-forming?

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. In serious cases use with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.
